

[15th December 1959]

SRI S. LAZAR : Sir, since the subsidised industrial housing scheme is only an optional scheme and the Government are aware that it has not been made use of by private industrialists. Will the Government consider the possibility of making this a compulsory scheme so far as those industrialists who are making a huge profit?

THE HON. SRI V. RAMAIAH : Sir, as it stands today we are appealing to the industrialists concerned to undertake building of houses for their employees. Up to now only 10 of them have come forward to utilise the benefits under the scheme. We still find their response is not very happy. Immediately after the Hon. Minister for Industries returns from abroad, a conference will take place to impress upon the employers to build more houses under these schemes for their employees. If it fails then the Government will have to consider the question of making it compulsory.
